

RETURN TO CHURCH? NO!

First Presbyterian Seceders Decline Invitation to Rejoin

Exception Taken to Reflection Cast by Pastor in Poetry

THE INVITATION.
The pastor and session desire to assure you that the officers and members of the church and its various organizations will cordially and heartily welcome your earnest co-operation in the work of the church.—Extract from letter of Moderator F. L. Goodspeed of the session of the First Presbyterian church.

THE REPLY.
We sincerely regret that under present conditions it is impossible for us to comply with your request that we join with you in attendance at and support of your church. It seems fitting that as you appear to have overlooked our reasons for the suspension of our activities and support that we here restate them briefly.—Extract from letter of seceding members.

Two hundred seceding members of the First Presbyterian Church have sent a negative reply to the invitation of the moderator of the church session, Rev. F. L. Goodspeed, and the pastor, to rejoin the congregation and contribute to its support.

A committee of the seceders yesterday prepared and forwarded a lengthy letter in which their reasons for remaining outside the mother church of this city are given.

A matter which helped influence the decision—a poetic quotation printed in the church calendar after their departure from the church—is given emphasis in the letter of those who resigned. The verses and an explanatory introduction are included in the reply, and are as follows:

"Good-bye, I said to my conscience;
Good-bye for aye and aye,
And I put her hands off harshly,
And I turned my face away;
And conscience, smitten sorely,
Trembled not for that day.

"But a time came when my spirit
Grew weary of its pace;
And I cried, 'Come back, my conscience,
I long to see thy face.'
But conscience cried, 'I cannot;
Remorse sits in my place.'"

THE INVITATION TO REJOIN.
The session, sent to each of the disaffected members sent March 2, was as follows:

"As one of the recent petitioners to the First Presbyterian Church greet you, and by this letter express their desire that you shall now join earnestly in the work of the church by attending its services and contributing to its support, and that you shall become active in the work of one or more of its departments in order that, by united efforts, a large, useful and harmonious work may be

'SOX' AFFINITY IN PRETTY WASH GIRL
Players Toss Eyes Roofward; Several Hits; Probable Hits

Who is the pretty girl, who, from the roof of a Lakeside apartment house, hung out her washing this morning? She didn't know it, but two telescopes watched her every movement, and three ardent swains of the White Sox are preparing to get their hearts and heads to the fair blondess if she can be discovered.

Reaching Oakland this morning with the bandage of the Oakland Commercial Club, which daily sweep the bay region, Hal Chase this morning discovered the blondess, and called his teammates from the club's billiard tables to see the sight. Each man got a look, while the rest impatiently plucked at his sleeves.

She was dark and very pretty, and, say the Sox, hung out her wash most charmingly. Just the girl to hang out a baseball player's uniform in the sunlight of Oakland or Chicago? Cupid perched on the telescope and snickered, as the unmarried men watched the fair blondess do fin in her work. Now Cupid is tripping and these alleged admirers of fair maidens hanging out the wash, may make many an error and miss many a bling, to the profit of the Oaks and the Seals. Have the girl didn't know it, but she was made in Oak or Seal victory by morning at that wash the morning.

The entire White Sox squad spent this morning at the club telescopes and billiard tables, and have made the club their

Merchant Injured In Auto Collision
While turning into Shattuck avenue from Fifth street today at noon, a machine driven by J. G. Barr, a merchant, was run into by another, containing a man, woman and three children, was dragged across the street, turned over twice and Barr thrown to the sidewalk. He sustained a dislocated shoulder and his machine was wrecked. The other machine was slightly damaged, the occupants being unhurt.

The second machine was coming along Shattuck avenue toward the downtown district of Oakland, when the impact took place. Barr was rushed to the emergency hospital, where treatment was administered. He did not secure the names of the occupants of the other machine.

Adjutant-Gen. Forbes Is Watching Moves of Unemployed

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 7.—Admitting that they did not want work and would not accept it if offered to them, the executive committee of the "Union Army of the Unemployed" drew a sharp rebuke from Governor Hiram W. Johnson, to whom they appealed for help today.

The governor first offered the three committeemen work, and when they declined he said:

"For the men who want work I have the greatest of sympathy and am willing to do everything I can to help them. For the men who won't work, which I understand is the principle with the Industrial Workers of the World, I have no sympathy.

"I have all admitted that you have not been seeking work. You have refused the positions which I offered you this very day. You say that the majority of your army will not work until they have completed their journey to Washington.

"Therefore, you don't present an unemployed problem. What you are presenting is a particular propaganda and asking the state to assist you in spreading this propaganda. Those are not the actions of unemployed men."

The governor recognized in James McCammon, one of the committee, a man who had begged from the governor twice in San Francisco. McCammon admitted to the governor that he had told him a falsehood to get money.

SACRAMENTO, March 7.—Fifteen hundred members of the Kelly "armies of unemployed"—the Kelly "armies of unemployed"—are camped in the sand lot of the Southern Pacific Company, adjoining the shops and depot of the railroad, awaiting an answer from the Sacramento officials to the demand for food and transportation to continue the journey toward Washington.

A cordon of police has been thrown around the camping grounds to keep the marchers from scattering throughout the city and to keep peace between the two factions. The desertion of about 100 men from the Kelly

Sullivan, general manager of the American-Oriental Concessions Company, which will have the sole privilege of catering to visitors within the exposition gates.

Examinations will be conducted several weeks in advance of the exposition opening February 20, 1915, with a view of obtaining the following:

Uniformity of stature on the basis of a "perfect 36." Beauty and attractiveness. Personality and fitness. General knowledge of culinary art and domestic science.

CAN CHANGE UTILITIES RATES

Railroad Commission Renders Decision in Water Case

A decision of momentous importance to Oakland in connection with the fixing of water rates within the city was rendered by the State Railroad Commission in San Francisco today.

By the terms of the opinion which was given publicly today, the commission holds that it has the right to interfere in the fixing of water, light or power rates despite any contract which the city may have with the public service corporation concerned.

The decision was handed down in the case of the city of Ukiah vs. the Snow Mountain Water and Power Company, and is almost identical with a similar opinion rendered in the case of Murray and Fletcher, of San Diego, in the early part of last year.

The city of Ukiah entered into an agreement with the Snow Mountain company, September 18, 1908. The commission holds that this contract is not binding upon it and that it still has the right to interfere and change the rate if it so desires.

Oakland's water rates are fixed under what is known as the Titus and Pendleton agreement between the city and the Peoples Water Company, and the city council has not interfered in the matter. It is understood, for five years, not attempted to fix water rates.

Recently Oakland voted to place all of its public utilities with the exception of its water front and warehouses, under the control of the commission. In due course the commission will scan the terms of the Titus and Pendleton agreement and may or may not approve it.

The commission's decision goes further, however, and contains the declaration that it has authority to interfere in public utilities matters of this kind even if the community concerned has not given it its authority to the commission the control of its dealings with public service corporations.

Hal Chase Joins Sox; Will Play Tomorrow

Hal Chase, the regular first baseman for the Chicago White Sox, joined his teammates this morning at the Hotel Oakland, reporting to Coach Ted Gleason. Chase has been wintering in San Jose with his wife and has been playing Sunday baseball. He looks to be in good condition and will get into the line-up tomorrow morning when the Sox tackle Devil's team. Chase was at one time spoken of as a possible Federal Leaguer.

CREW OF SUNKEN SHIP REACH SHORE

After Drifting in Open Boat Eighteen Men Are Safe

NEW YORK, March 7.—The 18 members of the crew of the sunken Chalmers Tower, which drifted in a long boat, landed safely this morning at the Arctick (N. J.) life-saving station.

Thompson, mate of the tower, after he came ashore with the others of the crew, said reports to the machinery at Hampton Roads on Wednesday were hasty and not well done.

The engines went dead again soon after putting to sea, and this condition, combined with heavy seas, resulted in the wreck. The ship sprang leaks in bow and stern, he said, and the plates were shaken loose.

Water poured into the vessel as though a sieve. The steam pumps kept her going for a while. Then, with the aid of hand pumps, the crew tried desperately to fight back the rushing water, but their struggle was unavailing, and the water finally reached the engines.

Felt Willing to Give Himself Up

SUPERIOR, Neb., March 7.—In a letter received here today by Rev. D. Fitzgerald, signed by C. A. Felt, former cashier of the failed First National Bank of this city, who has been missing since early in January, he says that he is going to give himself up to the Federal authorities in San Francisco and ask that he be released to Nebraska, where he is wanted on a charge of embezzlement. In the letter Felt denies that he profited by the efforts he made to save the institution when he realized that the bank would become insolvent.

Action in and Out of the Pulpit and Preacher's Ideal

Rev. J. M. Heady, known as the "marrying parson" of San Francisco, has forsaken his former role. He now is the "acting parson." Assisted by modern stage settings, a few quick changes in costumes, and the usual stage make-up, he's going to show a "soul fight" as it is fought. No flights of imagination would describe the working girl's struggle with it, but a dramatic sketch will do the work, and tomorrow will see it staged at the Golden Gate Baptist Church. After he has acted the "soul fight," the "acting parson" will cross the bay to Oakland to see himself, in movies, climb to the top of the ferry building and unite in marriage some simple girl and maid servant.

Dr. Heady, in his novel act, will present a new form of sermonizing. Feeling that the play's not only the thing, but the real sermon of sermons, he's going to prove his contention. He will assume all the roles himself, changing costumes behind a screen on the stage. "The Thing in Life Worth While" is the subject of his sermon, and "The Soul Fight" the feature.

The story of his playlet is that of a

RAILROAD CLERK IS THIRD COAST VICTIM

Oakland Man Is Brought Home After Strange Wanderings

Has George L. Faust, Oakland railroad clerk, been paid with the same Oriental drug which the southern detectives believe was responsible for the weird condition of Michael Haasch, the San Bernardino "mystery man," whose case has baffled the physicians of the coast? The circumstances of the disappearance of the men is identical, save that the southern man, when discovered, bore signs of a struggle, while the Oakland man seems to have wandered in the fields and walked long distances. The Oakland man, completely "dark," mutters of a "dark room" in which he was confined and in which his meals were given him through a "hole in the wall." He was in the Fresno jail for a day when captured, but neither for his refusal to this as the "dark room," or to some other confinement, he cannot state. Dr. C. H. Wilder, detailed by the Southern Pacific to watch his case, believes that the man's memory may gradually come back.

Faust is now at his home, 1007 Fifth avenue, and is being cared for by his wife, who hastened to Fresno, where he was located after his disappearance and brought back to Oakland.

Wife Appears When Her Mate Is Wounded and Receives Bullet

Slayer Found in Room, Body Burning From Pistol Discharge

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—Marked for death two years ago as the result of an unsuccessful business investment, Tony Kileinovich, 45 years old, was shot and seriously wounded at dawn, and his wife, rushing to his rescue, was murdered by his assailant.

With a bullet hole in his heart and his body slowly burning from fire caused by the flash from his own pistol, Marks Skarich, the murderer, was found dead in his room at the Hotel Minnabee, 149 Sixth street, at 2:30 o'clock this morning. He had written two letters in Slavonian. One of them was addressed to Kileinovich and chided him for his part in an apple farm deal, and the other to a friend stated that his mind was wavering and that he feared he would go crazy.

Skarich, who is believed to reside in Richmond, rented the room in the hotel yesterday morning.

The tragedy occurred in a lonely section of the Bay View district, far from the beaten path of travel, where Kileinovich had built himself a house on a few acres of ground and was farming on a small scale.

At 5:15 this morning Kileinovich arose, happy and whistling, leaving his wife still sleeping and his five children in their beds. Fifteen minutes later his little ones were half-orphan, his wife lay dead and he was grievously wounded.

BULLET KILLS COW.

Kileinovich was sitting on a stool milking his cow when, at 5:30 a. m., a bullet whizzed past his head and struck the cow in the yard. He had not seen the man for two years, but instantly he remembered that Skarich had threatened death at their last meeting. In the semi-darkness he saw the glint of a shining revolver and a second later his assailant began shooting. Kileinovich crawled under the cover but a bullet struck the animal in the neck and she rolled over, wounded, leaving him exposed to the fire of his antagonist. Three more shots rang out and Kileinovich fell with bullet in his right arm, left leg and left hip.

Mrs. Frances Kileinovich, the wife, aroused by the shooting, rushed from the door in her flowing white night robe. The murderer turned his attention to her, and just as her 12-year-old son, Tony, followed her from the house, he fired. The bullet struck Mrs. Kileinovich in the breast. She staggered into the house and fell just inside the doorway, expiring instantly.

STRUGGLES WITH SLAYER.

Despite his wounds, Kileinovich got up and struggled with his antagonist.

WANTED: MOTHERS TO WATCH TANGO

Also Should Supervise Dancing of All Character

Wanted—A mothers' club to supervise the tango dancing and otherwise regulate the conduct of students at the University of California. This is the latest plan of women, according to Mrs. M. R. Marsden, president of the California Mothers' Club Congress, who declared that the co-eds may have their manners and other manners watching over their dances instead of the usual chaperon. Mrs. Marsden says it will be for the good of the co-eds, and will also furnish a new club for her congress, so congress will be happy, the mothers will be happy and the co-eds ought to be, at least!

Mrs. Marsden told of her plans for a club to watch and regulate the University students at a meeting of the Boardman Mothers' Club, which, on outlining the work of the Congress, she Marsden declared that some of the co-eds had already expressed their willingness to be governed by such a club. The University authorities have not yet been consulted.

As a result of Mrs. Marsden's talk the Boardman Mothers' Club has affiliated with the Congress, which is a good sign.

but the men shook him off and fled across the hills.

Yackabini Klicinovich, the oldest daughter of the household, rushed from her room and fell sobbing on the body of her dead mother just as Tony Jr. hurried into the house crying,
"They shot mamma and papa; what shall we do?"

Dr. Joseph Butler, the nearest surgeon, was summoned and reached the scene within a half hour. He found that nothing could be done for Mrs.
Klicinovich and turned his attention to her husband. The five children gathered around, sobbing.

Neighbors summoned the police and were informed that the murderer might be hiding in a clump of bushes nearby, and, with drawn revolvers, they surrounded it, but he was gone.

Klicinovich was removed to the Mission Emergency hospital, where all the bullets save the one in the hip were removed by Dr. Dickinson.

The trouble between Skarich, whom Klicinovich accused of the killing, and the injured man was the direct result of a quarrel in Watsonville nearly three years ago.

FINANCIAL DEAL UNFORTUNATE.
Klicinovich, his brother-in-law,
Samuel Santich, and Skarich each contributed money to a pool with which the investment in apples was made.

The deal proved to be an unprofitable one and the partners found that they had lost their money.

Skarich took the affair greatly to heart and threatened Klicinovich with death, according to the latter's claim.
His revenge was carefully nursed, and though he did not come in contact with his former associate, he evidently knew where he was and was familiar with his customs and habits.

Skarich is about 45 years old. At 9:30 the odor of smoke from his room caused the proprietor to break in the door. Skarich was lying on the floor, and in his shirt and trousers.
The shirt was on fire and the flames were eating their way toward the man's head and face. After the flames were extinguished Skarich was rushed to the Central Emergency hospital, where it was found that he had shot himself in the heart and that he was dead.

AM NOT GUILTY, PARKER WHITNEY

Subman Appears Before Court to Answer Complaint

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—J. Parker Whitney, the millionaire chairman, captained a demurrer today to a charge of obscuring the Mann white slave act before Judge Dooling this morning.

Accompanied by his counsel, Attorney W. Sweeney, Whitney appeared promptly at 10 o'clock. Sweeney interposed a demurrer to the charge, saying that the bill did not properly allege the facts of transportation used in conveying the complaining witness, Miss Geo-ria Hannan-Harris from Seattle to this city.

The court, after carefully reading the complaint and the demurrer, commented
that the bill did not properly allege the
facts of transportation used in convey-
ing the complaining witness, Miss Geo-
city.

Whitney would say nothing, adhering to the plea of not guilty at the start of his first arrest.

STUDENT ACCUSED IN LIBEL CHARGE

Epistles Submitted to Police Bring About
Arrest

Solomon Davis, a student in the Oakland high school, was arrested at his home, 725 Market street, today, by inspectors McSorley and Wood on a charge of criminal libel preferred by Miss Rebekah Abrahamson, a pretty fellow student, who lives at 500 Fifth street.

According to the police Davis paid court to Miss Abrahamson, but her brother objected to his visiting the house and is said to have ejected him from the place.

Following the trial a number of objectionable letters were received by the girl and turned over by her to her parents. The letters are said to contain words and phrases of an obscene character and made charges against members of the family.

Davis was suspected and the police questioned him. He denied having sent the letters.

Examples of his handwriting were obtained from the school and were submitted with the letters to Professor Carl E. Schenck, a handwriting expert. Schenck declared that the letters were written by Davis.

Davis was released on bonds and will be tried in a local court.

'Horse Trader' Not To Be Extradited

What is considered a crime by the Alameda county grand jury is not looked upon as an extraditable crime in Vancouver and A. E. Gornley, wanted here for numerous shady horse deals, will not be brought back for trial. Deputy Sheriff George Wales returned today from Canada, where he has been for a month awaiting the outcome of extradition proceedings. Judge McInnis, sitting in the extradition court, rendered an opinion following an examination of the affidavits presented, that Gornley had committed no crime, taking the affidavits as they were.

Gornley had been dealing with his horses open and then when subsequently the animals were temporarily blind the purchasers received some compensation for them.

Gornley was indicted with C. P.
Culpepper on a charge of obtaining money through fraud. Culpepper was recently brought back for trial from St. Louis. His partner has prospered since jumping his bail in Oakland two years ago and is said now to be in affluent circumstances in Vancouver.

'Larry' Sullivan Flees From Justice

LOS ANGELES, March 7.—L. M. Sullivan, better known in California, Washington, Nevada and Arizona as "Larry" Sullivan, sportsman, saloon keeper, gambling and alleged "get-rich-quick" promoter, is a fugitive from justice.

Sullivan is accused of skimming Mrs.
Laura Rodgers, a wealthy Kansas City widow, to whom he was engaged to be married.

Mrs. Rodgers, who is a guest at the Hotel Astoria, estimates her loss as the result of Sullivan's courtship at approximately $7000. She has checks in her possession showing loans to Sullivan in excess of $2000.

Her other assets with which she amount up to approximately $5000, she says.
Sullivan is specifically charged with enticing Mrs. Rodgers out of $334. Six weeks ago Sullivan left for San Francisco.
He has not been seen since. A telegraphic warrant was dispatched to San Francisco, Seattle, where Sullivan formerly ran a saloon, and Goldfield.

There were no passengers on it. The truck was also damaged. Norton was treated at the Emergency Hospital by Dr. Dowdle.

pension of our activities and support,
that we here re-state them briefly.

"Dating back nearly a year, it became apparent to the elders of the church that our congregation was steadily growing smaller, members were being alienated from the church, and our activities were languishing, and also that the tension between the pastor on the one hand, and the building committee and the church officers on the other, had become so great that some radical change was a necessity.

"Prominent among the causes for this unhappy condition of affairs were the following:

"The choice of a site for the new church, made by the building and site committee and concurred in by the advisory committee, had been bitterly assailed, and grossly false rumors of graft in connection with it had been put in circulation.

"The plans for the new church building, adopted unanimously after months of deliberation, had been externally obstructed by an action which was let and change was impossible.

"The purchase of the organ had raised a storm of protest, and the organ itself proved the groundlessness of the opposition.

"In much of this, resulting in destruction of the characters of men long in the service and esteem of the church, and the honor of the community, we believe the pastor was at least the aider and abettor.

"As evidence of his attitude, it may be mentioned that:

"He refused to participate in ground-breaking exercises for the new building.

"He never in his pulpit ministra-tions referred to the enterprise in which the church society was engaged, or offered a word of prayer for the committee that was bearing the labor and responsibility of the work, or for the safety of the workmen, or for the congregation, that they might have spiritual preparation for entering into their new church home.

"He absented himself when he was required to read the prayer book in the new parish house which was reading, but neither left nor sent any word of congratulation.

"All these things were so inconsistent with his views of true spiritual leadership, and were so dividing the church, that our then elders felt compelled to take some action looking to a change. The action looking to a change in the voluntary work, with dignity and honor, from a situation which he himself later described as 'intolerable.' It is a thousand pities that he did not avail himself of the opportunity, for while he had the agreement to withdraw and in the morning do all possible to restore harmony, his acquiescence was in words only and never in spirit. Silence was enjoined on the eldership, and kept; but his attitude never changed.

"When at last the crisis came, and the long-delayed resignation was made, it came with such intemperate words as to create the indignities and disparities violate the agreement, and nothing to further disturb the harmony of the church.

"He charged his elders with falsehood, and to one of them he said he would not believe him on oath.

"The meeting of the presbytery at Berkeley, though long ago, is still fresh in your minds, and he fought his own resignation desperately, and won. A committee was appointed to look into the case and report at a future meeting. This committee at its inauguration stood four to one against the eldership, one of them having gone so far as to say, in the vote on acceptance of the resignation, 'I vote no; first, last, and all the time, NO.'

"It was shortly after this that Arthur L. Adams was stricken—a victim of calumny and of overwork in loving labor for the church. As he lay on his deathbed no word or prayer came from the pastor on the Sunday or the Wednesday evening, missing during his sickness. Later, after he had passed away, widely lamented by both community and the state, a testimonial to his character and worth was offered in a session meeting and ordered inscribed on the sessional records. This elicited many warm words from various members of the session, but the implacable pastor was as silent as a sphinx.

"This Berkeley committee investigated, and after investigation, changed from four against to a solid five for the elders. They were their report at a meeting of the presbytery in the Brooklyn church, and it was summarily rejected. Unwisely, as we thought then and still think, the question was remanded back to the church. New societies were formed in the church, parallel in their scope and activities to societies already existing there. This was without the advice or consent of the session and in direct contravention of the Presbyterian rule making such conduct necessary as these things were done.

"The members of the church, who resigned in the interest of harmony, as the presbytery had suggested, and with them went most of the officers and many of the members of the old-time organization. It is these ex-officers and those agreeing with them that compose the group we represent.

"Following these resignations, the church calendar, from copy furnished by the past, contained the following lines, and the view of those who differ from him:

"Good-bye, I said to my conscience,
"Good-bye for aye and aye."
And I put her hands off harshly,
And turned my face away;
And conscience, smitten sorely,
Returned not from that day.

"But a time came when my spirit
Grew weary of its pace;
And I cried, 'Come back, my conscience,'
I long to see thy face,
But conscience cried, 'I cannot;
Remorse sits in my place.'

It is because of this spirit, and for these reasons, that we are not now in our proper places as workers in and supporters of the church. So long as these conditions prevail our attitude must remain the same. Our ideal has been shattered and our attendance would be of the body only, and not of the spirit. Regretting, we are, re-

CAPITAL POLICE GUARDING 'ARMIES'

Members of Two Factions of Unemployed Make Demand for Transportation.

UP TO COUNTY.
Commissioner of Public Health and Safety, Charles A. Ellis, in charge of the policing of the city, arrived from San Francisco today and announced that the city would only participate in the unemployed problem to the extent of insuring police protection and sanitation at the camp. The city commission has refused to furnish funds or supplies for the armies on the ground that the responsibility is up to the county.

Committees from both armies are waiting upon the county officers this morning. They said the length of their visit in Sacramento would be determined by the treatment accorded them.

The first installment of the "army" arrived in Sacramento at about 4:15 yesterday and marched into an enclosed space near the Southern Pacific station. Four hours later General Kelly's forces arrived. The armies are being watched by a squad of 40 policemen and 10 deputy sheriffs.

The men are enclosed in a sort of "bull pen," from which the police were given orders to allow none to escape. The city commission was last night called upon by the men for food, but stated that the feeding of individuals was a county matter and that they would take no action. The county refused official aid, but some officers, as private citizens, secured supplies.

WONT PAY FARE.
The city officials of Sacramento yesterday informed the men that they would not pay their fares eastward and the "army" is now against the proposition of getting over the mountains. The fare to Reno from here is more than $5.

Adults-General Forbes followed the "armies" in from Benicia and looked them over, sizing up the situation. The men gave a little trouble.
Their road from Richmond to Sacramento has been easy. They have been given food and their fares have been paid all the way. In Richmond General Kelly and Mayor Ludwig became good friends, and Kelly broke several guidelines. In a saloon to buy wine to toast the city officials, Mayor Ludwig, as a boy, marched with Kelly's army.

The men are now beginning to realize their position as serious and are discontentedly muttering about the high mountains and the scarcity of food. The police are keeping a sharp lookout.

WANTED COOK, NOT WIFE.
That her husband wanted a cook instead of a wife is the complaint of Dell Derrivan in her suit for divorce against Michael Derrivan, which was filed today in the Superior Court. The couple were married in 1907 and have two minor children.

MYSTERIOUS DRUG
UNSEATS HIS MIND

George L. Faust May Have Been Victim of Oriental Poison.

Mrs. C. P. Bassett, who lost her son, or, in the same way in Los Angeles, were both laid by detectives to the influence of some mysterious Chinese drug, which it was believed had been forced upon them. Faust gives no sign of drug or struggle, save for his uttering of the prison in which he was held. The private detectives of the Southern Pacific will be asked to investigate this phase of the affair, in the hope of connecting his case with that of the two drug victims of the south.

"I do not know what to think of the matter," declared Mrs. Faust today. "George seems a little brighter, but still is unable to recognize the children or myself. He realizes that I am his wife. I showed him the marriage license and he knew, in a vague way, what it was. Everything seems vague and hazy to him and he cannot remember anything Dr. Walker believes he will be able to cure him."

Captain R. J. Faneuf of Battery B, National Guard, who was an intimate friend of the man, visited him yesterday, but was not recognized. Other friends also have failed to form associations for the man. He seems satisfied to remain outdoors and declares that he "wants to be in the light."

Where was this dark room you speak of, he asked.

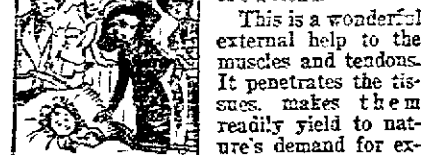

"I don't know, I couldn't see," he answered. "It was dark, and they put me to bed in a room with a hole in the wall. I was asked, 'What is the jail?' I don't know," was his answer.

The case is being followed in the hope of casting light on the enigma.

MRS. DROWN MAY GO ON THE STAND

Peculiarities of Defendant Are Brought Out in Testimony at Court Session.

Peculiarities on the part of Mrs. Millie Drown were testified to by a number of witnesses called by the defense in the murder trial yesterday. At the conclusion of the hearing the case was continued until Tuesday morning for further taking of testimony. Mrs. Drown, the defendant, probably will take the stand next week.

Among the witnesses called yesterday afternoon were George W. Howes, a San Jose clothing store, who said that Mrs. Drown had once stated to him that "her husband was driving her crazy with his acts." Other witnesses said that the defendant had been known to carry a revolver with her when she went out on a social call, that she was afraid to stay in a large house alone at night without all the lights burning and that in moving of a peculiar makeup.

WOULD-BE SUICIDE
STEINER MISSING

Doctor Believed to Have Ended Life After Fourth Poisoning Attempt.

JOHET H. March 7.—"Dr." Emil M. Steiner, "no, while attending a gay 'farewell' banquet given in his honor last night on the occasion of his appointment as an army surgeon and his assignment to the Presidio, San Francisco, swallowed a quantity of bichloride of mercury, disappeared today, and the police believe he has ended his life in the drainage canal. Work of dragging the canal will be started.

The disappearance of "Dr." Steiner followed three additional attempts to end his life by swallowing carbolic acid. These were made after Dr. J. C. Kimball, the physician in attendance, refused to listen to his plea that he be allowed to die.

NOT A PHYSICIAN.

"I am not a physician at all," he told Dr. Kimball. "I have been in trouble all my life, and I want to end it now. The commission appointing me a surgeon in the marine corps, I had printed myself and forged the names of President Wilson and Secretary Daniels."

When Steiner fled he had only 55 cents. In his room the police found four navy surgeon uniforms, a uniform overcoat and several regulation caps and swords. To purchase this outfit Steiner borrowed $300 from Isidor Katz, a neighbor, three weeks ago, and he "signed" papers on the streets of Johet and at social functions in them.

IS COMMISSION FORGED?

In the commission that Steiner proudly exhibited the name of President Wilson was signed "W. Wilson" and Secretary Daniels' name was signed "D. Daniels."

In a letter Steiner wrote to his mother in Kiev, Russia, and which was found in his pocket, after the banquet, he said:

"Dear Mother, You will be surprised to hear from me. Things have been going badly. Oh, if you had not made me a doctor I would have been happy and better off in every way. I might have been a business man like other business men. But as it is I know too much, I have seen too much."

"Dr." Steiner told his Johet friends he had passed the test for surgeon in the United States marine corps with an average of 98 per cent.

Pirate Nelson Gets Maximum Penalty

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—The maximum penalty of the law, five years at hard labor in San Quentin penitentiary, was the punishment prescribed by Federal Judge Dooling this morning for Captain A. D. Nelson, the convicted pirate, who held up the steamer "Williamette" of the West Coast Steamship Company's steamer Williamette on January 2.

Attorney Healey made a strong plea for leniency for Nelson, but the court would not consent to show any mercy upon him. Healey contended that Nelson was completely intoxicated and in a trance. He admitted that his client was guilty of assault on the high seas, but thought that his was ignorant of the extent of his crime.

Captain Nelson was in his cabin when Nelson approached him with a revolver. The captain's master disarmed his assailant and caused him to be placed in irons. According to the officers of the vessel Nelson was in league with other conspirators who were on a launch which was following the boat to take him off in the night. The $1500 which the case contained.

The alleged act of piracy occurred while the Williamette was northbound off Redondo beach.

LONDON, March 7.—All London is laughing over the easy manner in which Claude Grahame-White, the aviator, and a number of the members of the nobility who follow the flying machine, were duped recently by a bogus crown prince of Wurtemberg and his equally bogus friend, "Lord Hope." After enjoying a free flight with Grahame-White, the prince favored the assembled fashionable persons with his company and then disappeared, leaving "Lord Hope" to bask in his reflected glory.

LATEST NEWS FROM RICHMOND

SUBMITS PLAN IN TUNNEL PROJECT

Richmond Council Reads Suggestions From J. Nicholl on Improvement Matters.

RICHMOND, March 7.—John Nicholl, through a written statement read to the council meeting last evening submitted a plan for the adjustment of the tunnel matter. His plan is to tear up Oregon street and Buena Vista avenue at the south end, and run a street parallel with the tunnel over that portion of Oregon street and Buena Vista avenue to the mouth of the tunnel, and by so doing substitute a street in place of the present street at the tunnel entrance. A retaining wall is proposed between Buena Vista and the tunnel, giving the latter a street-level access to the tunnel. The John Nicholl Company will assume all cost connected with such a change, which will be about $5000, according to the document. He also submitted a park proposition, but did not go into details in this matter. Both the tunnel and park proposition were combined in the one letter. A meeting of the council has been called this evening at 8 o'clock when it is probable that the matter will be finally thrashed out and some definite agreement entered upon.

300 MEN TEAR UP RICHMOND PAVEMENT

RICHMOND, March 7.—Three hundred men employed by the Shattuck-Edinger Company on the municipal tunnel, started to work this morning tearing up the new paved section of Oregon and Buena avenues, the paving of which was finished yesterday. This action was taken following a session of the city council and the tunnel contractors and is in line with the plan of the council to escape what it declares to be a holdup on the part of the John Nicholl Company. Nicholl owns property on Oregon avenue and has been endeavoring to hold up the starting of work on the tunnel by forcing the completion of the paving of Oregon avenue. The contract for the street paving was let last year, but when the tunnel was started it was found necessary to put the grade of Oregon avenue fifteen feet lower or to provide a new right of way. To get around this difficulty the council allowed the street paving contractors to go ahead and finish the paving and the morning started work on tearing up the pavement just laid. The pavement being torn out cost $2500 to construct.

The picture was received for the students by W. Hoffman, president of the student body. Miss Helen Smith gave a reading descriptive of the San Carlos Mission and the program concluded with a sketch, entitled "A Professional Gardener," coached by Miss Fernier.

Faints After Making Her Seduction Charge

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—While Claude Baldwin was being arraigned in Police Judge Shortall's court this morning on a charge of seduction, the fair complaining witness, Miss Shenna Dana, a beautiful young girl, dropped to the floor in a dead faint. She was overcome with emotion during the proceedings. They carried her into the judge's chambers and she soon revived. Baldwin's hearing was set for next Tuesday at 2 p. m.

Where Knowland Should Be.

The President urges Congress to repeal the act exempting American coastwise shipping from Panama Canal tolls, and Congress may do it. But it will not be done with the consent or the vote of Joseph R. Knowland, and it will not be done until Joseph R. Knowland has been fought to a standstill on the floor of the lower house.

If "Our Joe" were a Senator instead of a Representative, the fight he would make in the upper house, with the powerful weapons a Senator can employ and a Representative cannot, would make the whole country sit up and listen to the battle.

We can't make Joseph R. Knowland a Senator in time to fight the repeal of the tolls exemption, but we can make him Senator in time to vote to re-enact the exemption clause in the next session.

And that is just what we Californians ought to do.

A San Francisco policeman joined the army of the unemployed. Wonder if it was his second enlistment.

TANGOING IT IN GOTHAM

Tangoing in New York has become a commercialized traffic.

Last winter it was an amusement, a recreation, a pastime.

Now it is a business—a skillfully organized industry.

It began with two women who foresaw the craze for dancing. They hired the hallroom of a big new hotel for every afternoon at a very low rate. To the amazement of the hotel they made money, lots of money.

With keen competition, with dancing rooms every block or so, keen business methods have come. Names of persons in high society are obtained as patronesses. Women whose names have social significance are hired to manage dancing places. Dancers who gain popularity are hired at high salaries to pose as the owners of dancing resorts.

But the great problem that confronts them all is to get men to dance. Business men have some time for dancing, but not for tea dances.

What does the hostess—the professional hostess or chaperon—do when a dancing room fills up with fifty women wanting to dance and there are no men?

She has her list of dancing men—young men who wear good clothes and are willing to accept payment for dancing.

She telephones to them, to the chorus man, to the clerk, to the broker's employe, to the ex-chauffeur. They come and dance with somebody's wives and daughters for so much an hour.

Chorus men, hitherto endured if not despised in Broadway stage productions, suddenly have become haughty. Many of them have deserted the stage, drive around in taxicabs and give other evidences of having visible means of being well supported. They are "dancing partners" or dancing instructors at the dancing places, and dancing places are everywhere.

Husbands and fathers of New York may be dancing, too, but they cannot neglect their bread-winning. But mother and the girls and the horde of idle women of New York find or make time to dance by day and night, and suitable partners must be found for them. So from this demand has come the call that has brought about the supply.—New York World.

THE VERY USEFUL CEDAR

There are few trees about which there is so much serious information as the true cedar of the Himalayas. It is called the cedar cedar, and is said by some botanists to be merely a variety of the cedar of Lebanon. The loftiness and spreading branches of this tree accord exactly with the description of the cedar of Lebanon mentioned in the sacred writings. In India the tree is held sacred, and in some places it is not cut except on special occasions, and then only for its wood for incense. The Hindus call the tree devadara, the tree of God. This cedar often attains a total height of from 100 to 150 feet and a diameter of from ten to twelve or more feet. It has a life equally as long as the Sequoia and is tolerant to a marked degree of adversity.

drought resistant trees known, and will do better in poor, shallow soil than any other tree that can be made to grow.

The cedar is sufficiently hardy to thrive in any part of the United States south of Delaware except at great elevations.

The cedar is planted extensively about in India and Europe, not only because of its very great ornamental value, but also because of the superiority of its wood which is compact, resinous, highly fragrant, of a deep, rich color, sometimes resembling polished brown slate. It is also of the most durable nature, instances being on record where its timber, employed in the roofs of buildings, was found perfectly free from decay after a period of nearly 300 years. The records show that one piece of cedar used as a part of an old bridge in Cashmere, India, at the end of 400 years proved to be very little decayed, although it was exposed to the action of the water. Pillars of it the great mosques are said to be of the year 864, and those on the Hindu temple are from 500 to 800 years old.

Insects do not attack the Himalaya cedar. It is strong, elastic and the average weight is only 35 pounds to the cubic foot.

close grain, capable of receiving a very high polish, and is indeed used for a great variety of purposes. It is used most extensively in the construction of houses and is regarded as one of the best wood for boat and bridge building. It is particularly desirable for the roofing of houses. The wood is very resinous and is often cut into sticks and used as candles.

ENGLISH DIVORCE STATISTICS

Sir Conan Doyle does not join his brother Britons in self-satisfied comparison between England's divorce statistics and those of the United States. Instead, he says that the English figures are absurdly wrong. In that they take no account of 200,000 separations, which are di-vices in everything except name.

To make divorce difficult for all, and so expensive as to be within the reach only of the rich, is a plan that does not commend itself to this shrewd and competent observer of its results, and he does more than hint that the consequences of a compulsory and merely nominal celibacy are not as moral as is pretended by those who oppose any weakening of the marriage tie. Sir Conan Doyle says so far as to say that divorce is not an evil, but a cure—a deplorable cure, indeed, but of a state of affairs still more deplorable.

The dispatches do not quote him as referring to that much-exploited grievance of the English suffragists—the denial of divorce on the same terms and for the same reasons to women as to men.
He might well have done so, whether he is with the suffragists or against them, for in either case he must want to see a just grievance removed.

What he did say, however, will tend to annoy, if not discourage, the southern statesman who recently advocated in the senate the extension to the whole country by federal law of South Carolina's stern refusal of divorce for any cause whatever. New York Times.

SAYS DOCTORS ARE MADE, NOT BORN

CHICAGO, March 7.—Initiative and personal force are more important in the mental equipment of a doctor than high scholastic attainments was the gist of an address made by Abbott Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard university, to the annual conference of the American Medical Association here.

"Failure to decide early upon the course he will follow should not be back a man of real power," President Lowell said. "We ask now of a prospective student how many courses he has been through, with the lowest passing grade, I argue for a test that will be a test of a man's real capacity."

"Many persons hold a fatalistic theory of education. They believe a man is born to be a physician. On the other hand anyone familiar with college students knows that the impulse toward a career often displays itself late."

HERO OF WAR IS KILLED IN BATTLE

Major Conry, British Soldier With Record, Dies in South Africa.

LONDON, March 7.—News has just reached here of two exciting skirmishes between British troops and tribesmen in Africa. In the first, Major James Lionel Joyce Conry of the Connaught Rangers, who was awarded the distinguished service medal in South Africa in 1900, was killed in a fight near Wadai Had, in the Sudan.

Major Conry was in charge of an Arab battalion of the Egyptian army. The leaders of the outlaws and other members of the band were killed and the remainder made prisoners. Besides Major Conry the British troops lost three men killed.

In the second affair Lieutenant Jones was shot through the legs during an attack on a stockade by Abyssinian raiders in British East Africa.

All his soldiers, except three officers, fled. These three men, at Jones' command, retook the stockade by assault.

Two of the soldiers, both natives, then bore the wounded officer on a stretcher 500 miles to his post. Blood poisoning had set in and Jones was conveyed to another post, where a doctor was stationed. His bearers found the doctor absent, and a journey to Nairobi was started. On the way the stretcher was charged by two rhinos, which the orderlies killed. At Nairobi a doctor and a nurse were found.

The muscles of one of Jones' legs were so shrunken that the leg always will be four inches shorter than the other. The doctors regard Jones' arrival alive as miraculous.

ARGUMENTS FOR NEW FUEL TRIAL CONTINUED

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—At the request of Special Prosecutors Theodore Roche and Matt Sullivan today the argument and motion for a new trial interposed for the Western Fuel Company defendants, was continued until 9 o'clock on Saturday next by Judge Dooling. Sullivan said that he had received the affidavits of the defense supporting the motion last night and would therefore not be prepared to argue until next Saturday.

The court fixed the hour at 9 a. m. in order that the arguments might be concluded before noon.

The three defendants, James B. Smith, F. C. Mills and E. H. Mayer, were convicted of a conspiracy to defraud the government on coal weights.

FINE PLAYGROUND, PLAN OF HAYWARD

High School Trustees Consider Construction of Track for Athletic Students.

HAYWARD, March 7.—This city will be given a much more prominent position on the athletic map through the efforts of the high school trustees and the high school body. Both these institutions will separate parts in bringing about efficiency in all branches of sport.

The school trustees have decided to construct a first-class athletic grounds which will be second to none in the county. One of the features of the grounds will be a running track of the best type with all the necessary accessories and together with a fully equipped gymnasium should aid in turning out fine athletes who will be able to hold their own with the best on the coast.

The student body, at a meeting next week, will draw up a constitution in which all branches of school athletics will come under the direction of that organization. The girls students as well as the boys are enthusiastic over athletics. Balmier skies and mild weather are an inducement to outdoor life, and the high school will contend.

Baseball and the running track claim the attention of the boys, who are hard on the track and perhaps as hard on the school basketball team is also upholding the reputation of the school in the field of sport and have scored several wins this season. Richard Russell is track captain, while John Lee is captain of the baseball team. The athletic grounds will be situated on the campus at the north end of the high school.

More Candidates On Ticket Likely

Tame Election at Hayward, as Predicted, May End With General Contest.

HAYWARD, March 7.—The political situation in Hayward which looked like being uneventful with only incumbents out for the vacancies in the town board, has given nothing but a satisfactory result. The election has produced more rival candidates after a long time was considered to be over.

Last Tuesday evening, or forty days from election time, was supposed to have been the last day when a candidate for town trustee could have his name placed on the ticket.

Those who have been active in placing other candidates in the field, have come forward with the assertion that the election will be open until within twenty days of the date of the election, and claim therefore that they can still bring forward candidates. Among those who have been mentioned for city trustee candidacy at this late hour are Captain J. J. Borra of Company H, National Guard, and S. C. Smith, a business man. The announcement that other candidates might be brought forward has created a furor in political circles and the general public.

Developments in the somewhat unique political situation are awaited with interest. It is stated that the city council as several declared the present candidates, Arthur Manter and Frank J. Hoffing, incumbents, may have opposition.

The trustees agreed to the erection of a new school on the presentation of a petition signed by the residents of the present annex school is of temporary nature. The Broadmoor Mothers' Club and the San Leandro Annex Improvement Association were both active in raising money for the purchasing of the site and the building of the school.

ORGAN RECITAL OF UNUSUAL MERIT

Louis Von Hergest Gives Great Promise of Being Genius at His Art.

An organ recital of unusual merit was given by Louis von Hergest to his friends yesterday afternoon at the First Congregational Church. The young man, who is the son of Mrs. Ella von Hergest of this city, has been studying with Miss Virginia de Fremery for the past two years, and gives promise of making a name for himself among the organists of the coming generation.

His pedal work, as demonstrated in the "Toccata" (Bach), is particularly deserving of mention, as well as his left hand work in the Andantino (Lemare). The lad betrayed no hesitancy in changing his combinations nor in shifting from one manual to another, but handled the big instrument in a surprising manner for one so young.

James Garthwaite, the assisting violinist, is another Oakland boy well on the way to making a name for himself.

Abroad with his mother, Mrs. W. W. Garthwaite, studying his chosen instrument in Germany for some years, and his technique at the recital revealed to his friends the artistic conceptions of the lad. The program was as follows:

Toccata, F. Major, Louis von Hergest.
Alte Weise, Louis von Hergest.
Voix Celeste, Louis von Hergest.
Harvest Thanksgiving March, Louis von Hergest.

OPERATE TO CURE 'FIGHTING MANIA'

Victim Is Jolly and Peaceable Between Periods of Brain Storms.

FORT WORTH, Texas, March 7.—A surgical operation to cure a man of a mania for fighting has been performed at North Worth hospital. The patient is a man named "Fighting Mania" who has been suffering from the disease for several years. He is a jolly and peaceable man between periods of brain storms.

The mania was due to a blood tumor on the brain. He was informed that the operation might cost him his life, but he said he preferred death if his mania must continue. When the "fighting fit" was on, he was a different man. He would not let anyone come near him and would never think of harming anybody. The spells came with the suddenness of a storm, and at such times he would fight anybody or anything. Frequently he was arrested on charges of assault, and he was taken from the city jail to the hospital for the operation at his own request.

Describing his mania before being operated upon, Carey said:

"When these bad spells come upon me, try hard as I will, I cannot control my temper. I've just got to fight. This is usually twice a month. I have daily attacks, but usually I can get off by myself and sit down and let them wear off. I can feel them coming over me. My left eye always warns me I am about to have a fit of bad temper. Naturally, I am peaceful. I like my friends and would not hit anyone. It's the thing in my head, this tumor, that causes these brain storms. No matter what the consequences are, I want to undergo the operation."

Carey's mother, Mrs. E. T. Carey, told the authorities and physicians that it would be better for her son to be dead than to continue to disgrace himself and cause his family trouble.

Carey is an athlete of splendid physique, and weighs 200 pounds. The attacks began when he was a young man, and came together each morning at 10 o'clock. Since then he has been getting worse. Two specialists, one from Paris, located the tumor and assigned that as the cause of his brain storms, but they hesitated about performing an operation, especially as at that time the family had hopes of his recovering without it.

He appears to be recovering from the operation.

GIRL AROUSES VILLAGE THREATENED BY FLAMES

JAMESTOWN, March 7.—Fire destroyed five buildings at Sugar Grove, resulting in a loss of $5000. The fire started in the blacksmith shop owned by Martin Helgren. This was only forty feet from the home telephone exchange, but the operator stayed at her switchboard until she heard the alarm all over the community.

The fire destroyed the blacksmith shop, the warehouse of John Phelps adjoining, an unoccupied mill, the S. S. Abbott printing office and a vacant house. There is no water supply at Sugar Grove. This was little insurance on any of the burned property. The origin of the fire is not known.

DECISION ALLOWS IMPORT DISCOUNT

Five Per Cent Granted on All Goods Carried by American Ships.

NEW YORK, March 7.—A 5 per cent discount on all imports carried by ships of American registry, as provided for in the new tariff law, has been granted today by the Board of United States General Appraisers in an opinion given by Judge B. S. Waite.

The board held that the favoring of American shipping was the plain intent of Congress in framing the statute, and that the allowance to American shipping did not impair the treaties with foreign countries. The act allows a discount, provided that the goods are carried by American ships.

The decision is of great importance to the higher courts, to which an appeal will be taken, will affect four ships of the American Line from Southampton to New York, two ships of the Red Star Line and all coastwise vessels, which by law are all of American registry.

The board further stated that it was not a statute extending favor to any particular country, but rather an offer to all importers of all nations to make use of the reduction allowed to American shipping.

The contest over the provision of the statute began about November, when Attorney-General McReynolds informed port authorities that the discount was provisionally granted by the statute could not be allowed to American vessels.

Between the United States and other powers, he therefore declared, it was imperative that the board should make no allowance for ships of American registry. Several foreign governments had protested against the enforcement publication.

Attorney-General McReynolds' action was followed by a protest from the importers, which was taken up by the board of general appraisers, who have been considering the case since last December. The decision caused considerable commotion among the importers in New York.

An immediate appeal will be taken to the United States Court of Customs Appeals in Washington, and it is understood that a law firm, who are attorneys for several large importers in this city.

SIMPLICITY is rapidly becoming a keynote in successful entertaining, and that is encouraging, since it promotes the cause of true hospitality. Many hostesses who would have been successful entertainers in the past have been deterred because they considered their efforts wasted time. They could not measure up with the more ambitious efforts of their friends.

With the wider views of life and,

true hospitality is within the reach of all. It is a compliment to be invited to a small company; it means that one is on the list of intimate friends. A unique personality goes a long way in either a hostess or a guest, and originality counts for much in the line of successful entertaining. It has been said that there is nothing which makes for true happiness more than to have about us a group of dear old friends whose hearts reach out to us with understanding and good fellowship.

Big things have in a measure meant social competition, except, of course, in the big teas which hostesses have been obliged to give as an expression of good will and to settle accumulated social scores. The tendency today is entirely in the direction of greater simplicity. That usually means refinement and a deeper culture. Frederick Townsend Martin, who is an acknowledged authority in social affairs, writes:

"I believe that in the future society, both in London and in New York, will continue to find its most successful entertaining in comparatively small groups. This is especially true of those persons whose mature experience makes them incline to seek the real values of social life.

"Indeed, all the world is becoming more human. We are demanding a closer and more intimate companionship. This is society becoming a truer expression of personality and a more satisfying means of broadening the lives of its devotees."

It is because it is informal that the "tango tea" and the "soiree dansante" have had such a vogue. Hostesses can give their guests a delightful time by way of an inexpensive dansant, and at the hotels the informality of the crowded dansant is its rare charm.

Again one finds simplicity in prizes and favors. There was a time when the rich hostess bought prizes commensurate with her wealth. There were lovely Japanese kimonos, and jewelry, and objects of art rare and valuable have been prizes in the past, and the expensive favor and prize was everywhere seen. The hostess of today tries for something unique and individual in the way of favors. It has been said that Mrs. Astor started the fad for buying favors at the five and ten-cent stores, surprising all her friends with the surprises she was able to give them.

The hostess of today does not plan useless gifts for her bridge tables. One finds a dainty little handkerchief as a prize, or a pack of cards from abroad, or an interesting new book, or a pretty box, or a bit of lace—something that gives pleasure to the winner and is useful besides.

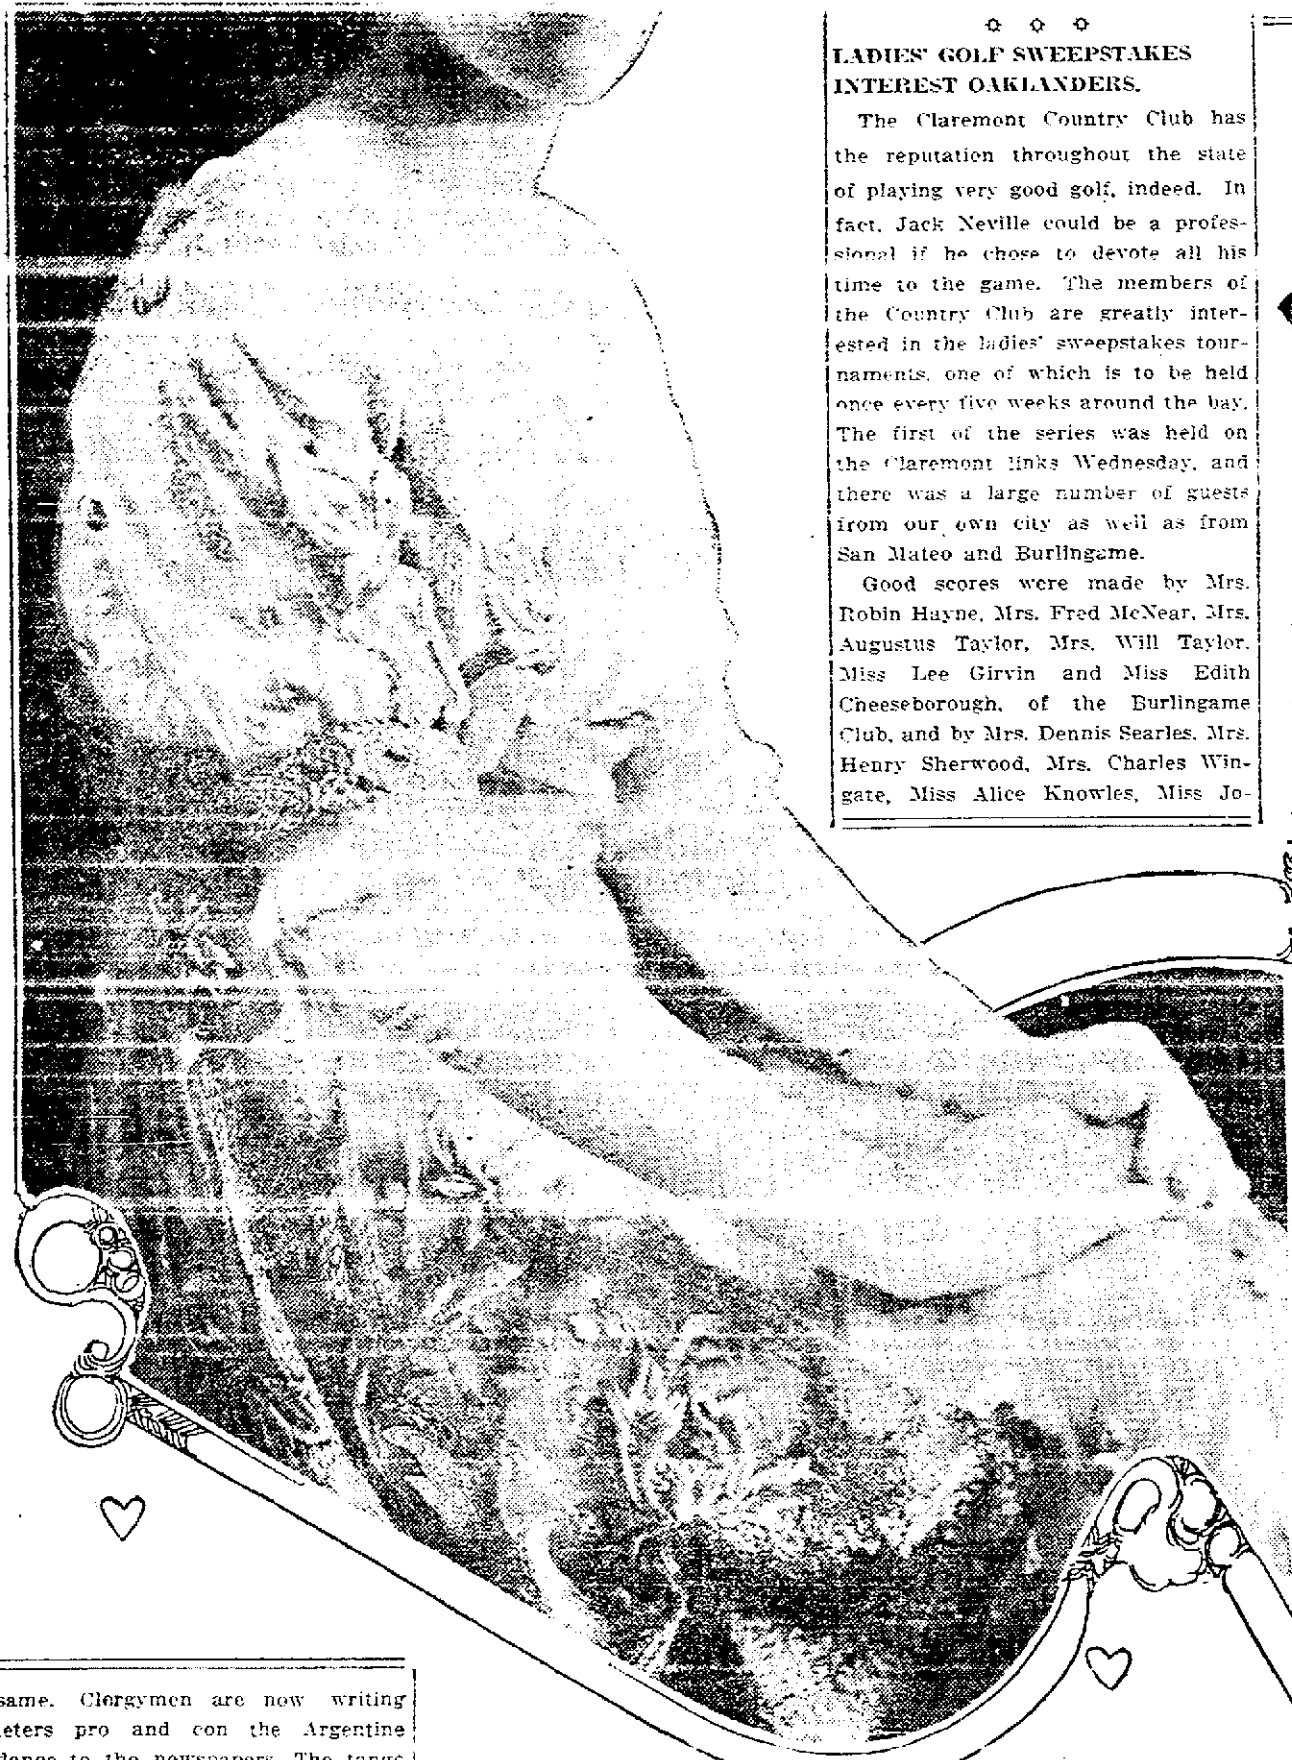

The Cosmos Club has always set a fine example in the matter of bridge playing. The prize for each table can never cost more than a dollar, and the refreshments served at the close of the card game are of the simplest description. And there are no better card players to be found anywhere than in the Cosmos Club.

LONDON HAD TO APPROVE TANGO.

"All roads lead to Rome," and likewise every theme of discussion leads one up to "the tango."

If gowns are to be discussed, the tango skirts come instantly to the foreground. If any form of entertainment is discussed, the inevitable "tango" holds the center of interest. It was persistently fought in London because Queen Mary set her face like flint against it. But a queen is no longer what she used to be in the old-time days. For the latest news from over the water tells us that London is fairly mad over the tango. Everybody dances it, approves it, or disapproves it. All the principal hotels and theaters devoted to the comedy hold "tango teas" on different nights.

Londoners are full of it. Lady Somerset sent word to the managers of the Picture Ball at Pall Mall that if the tango was to be danced, she would withdraw her name. It was danced, all the same. Clergymen are now writing letters pro and con the Argentine dance to the newspapers. The tango has swept London. It has even affected clothes. Tango is the name of a color now, and ladies' tailors advertise "tango dresses."

And it is immensely amusing to hear that it is even invading the realm of men's clothes. For an enterprising tailor has discovered just the style of evening clothes a tango dancer should wear. He says: "The lower parts of my coats are cut with exquisite care so the tails are not whisked clear from the dancer's body when he is putting his heart into the work."

And the tango dancers are quietly smiling over the eminently proper people who prefer the furlana, because that is sanctioned in court circles in Italy, and is now greatly danced in Rome. It is interesting to read of this new craze:

"La Furlana is the quaint old Venetian dance which was fashionable in the eighteenth century all over the north of Italy, but in modern times danced by the Venetian populace only."

"This typically Italian dance has features which rival the tango in boldness. The real furlana, as it is danced by the peasants near Venice, includes some very close embraces, as well as complicated steps, which might shock a more censorious age than ours."

So perhaps, after all, if we are wise in our day and generation, we will stay by the tango, the beautiful dance which has come to us by way of our Argentine neighbors.

MID-LENT DANSANT ANNOUNCEMENT PLEASES.

Apropos of dancing, to the joy of every one, the next large dance on the schedule is the "Micareme dansant," to be given by the management of the Hotel Oakland. Nothing in a social way ever given in our city has scored so great a success as the Micareme, which was given at the Hotel Oakland. One is led to wish that everyone of them might be worn again. There are many costumes of the fairy Yama-Yama folk which the young people wore at the dance given by Miss Helen Goodall and Miss Katherine Crellin for Miss Suzette were at the height of their popularity. Lent came and closed the list for the time being. Now every one hails with joy the announcement that the management will give a micareme dance. Micareme, as everybody knows, means "mid-Lent," and in the older countries it is the time for a general rejoicing or festivity. It was instituted on the plan that six weeks of serious endeavor was altogether too strenuous and rather beyond the power of endurance of the truly conscientious observance of Lent. So there are three weeks of the Lenten season, which brings one to "micareme," or mid-Lent. Then there is a day of rest, of rejoicing, of carnival, and society settles back again, with renewed interest to the Lenten days, which are the prelude to Holy Week, for which no social dates are ever set. We rank quite with the larger cities of our own world, and of the old world, when we can plan a micareme dansant.

It has been given out by the management of the hotel that there are to be no masques worn, though costume effects will be gladly welcomed. Many of our prominent people have most picturesque costumes, which were worn at the fancy dress dances given by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hamilton Brown and by Captain and Mrs. Miss Goodall. The costumes were only worn once, and for a smaller audience than would greet them at the Hotel Oakland. One is led to wish that everyone of them might be worn again. There are many costumes of the fairy Yama-Yama folk which the young people wore at the dance given by Miss Helen Goodall and Miss Katherine Crellin for Miss Suzette

LADIES' GOLF SWEEPSTAKES INTEREST OAKLANDERS.

The Claremont Country Club has the reputation throughout the state of playing very good golf, indeed. In fact, Jack Neville could be a professional if he chose to devote all his time to the game. The members of the Country Club are greatly interested in the ladies' sweepstakes tournaments, one of which is to be held once every five weeks around the bay. The first of the series was held on the Claremont links Wednesday, and there was a large number of guests from our own city as well as from San Mateo and Burlingame.

Good scores were made by Mrs. Robin Hayne, Mrs. Fred McNear, Mrs. Augustus Taylor, Mrs. Will Taylor, Miss Lee Girvin and Miss Edith Cheeseborough, of the Burlingame Club, and by Mrs. Dennis Searles, Mrs. Henry Sherwood, Mrs. Charles Wingate, Miss Alice Knowles, Miss Josephine Johnson, Miss Elsie Everson and Miss Violet Whitney.

A luncheon was served at the Claremont Club for sixty guests, and the visitors from across the bay were most hospitably entertained.

CORONADO IS WINTER-END MECCA.

Coronado is the center of much social gaiety in these early spring days, since many people have gone down there for the polo tournament. In February the golf tournament attracted many good players to the Del Monte links, and polo takes many to Coronado. There was a colonial ball there last week that was planned along very elaborate lines, and the management of the hotel gave a dinner for fifty young people.

Coronado had three very good teams in the field this season, consequently the days this week have been full of interest there. The Ninth United States Cavalry team has arrived from Arizona and it has a string of eighteen ponies. John R. Miller brought his ponies from Pasadena, and the polo teams of Burlingame and Santa Barbara were both well represented.

Dancing every evening in the big ballroom of the hotel has been a feature of the week's entertainment, and Maurice and Florence Walton have given exhibition dances every afternoon and evening this week.

Over 1200 people were at the big ball and among the distinguished guests were Lord Alastair Innes Ker of England and Count and Countess Chatoulenko.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Watson Cush-

Mrs. Frank Godfrey. The latter is very stunning, indeed, and one of the most beautiful of the younger women at Coronado. Mrs. Godfrey was formerly Miss Ruth Adams of this city. The Godfreys have a very delightful home in the southland, and they spend a great deal of their time there.

Wheeler gave an elaborate dinner for Mrs. Hooper and the officers of the new trust fund. One hears that the new gift consists of many thousands of acres of timber land, with an income of $50,000 a year, which will, of course, be steadily increasing.

Among the guests at the Wheeler dinner were: Dr. William Pearce of the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Henry Pritchett, president of the Carnegie Foundation; Dr. Herbert Moffitt, dean of the medical department, University of California, and Mrs. Hooper. The latter is an aunt of Mrs. Wigginton Creed (Isabelle Hooper).

MRS. SCHILLING AND DAUGHTER TO TRAVEL.

The going abroad for the summer of Mrs. Schilling and her daughter, Miss Elise Schilling, is the motif for many happy gatherings of intimate friends. The Schillings have lived in the Lakeside district for many years, and they have many friends all around the bay. They always close their Lakeside home in the summer, and they have recently been spending their holidays in their beautiful country place near Redwood City. They have been abroad several times, so they know this season how to arrange an itinerary full of charm, since it may leave the beaten track of tourists and take one to countries where there are still primitive peoples, among whom old-time customs prevail.

Mrs. Volkman and her daughter, Miss Johanna Volkman, who have been for many years warm friends of the Schillings, will entertain in their honor, and Mrs. Martin W. Kales gave an informal tea for the Schillings at the Oakland. The Kales and Schilling families have been neighbors for many years, and the young people of both families have been very fast friends.

The tables at the Oakland were very lovely, all abloom with wonderful tulips—the flowers which are so very colorful nowadays. Special friends of Mrs. Schilling were seated at Mrs. Kales' table, and among the guests there were: Mrs. Albert Brayton, Mrs. Volkman, Mrs. Thomas Crellin, Mrs. Harry Meek, Mrs. John B. Mhoon, Mrs. Andrew Simpson, Mrs. J. R. Burnham, Mrs. Charles S. Houghton and Mrs. Ehrenberg, Mrs. Schilling's sister.

At another table were seated Mrs. Thomas Knowles (Ruth Kales), Mrs. Brendon Brady (Rose Kales), Miss Annie Miller, Miss Johanna Volkman, Miss Elise Schilling, Miss Beatrice Simpson and Miss Marjorie Mhoon.

The Schillings are to start on their trip abroad on March 21, and they will be away all summer.

CORAL IS POPULAR DRESS ORNAMENT.

At the many luncheons and dinners one sees a great deal of coral worn, and happy is the matron or young girl who can take from her jewel box a string of corals. They are usually either the fascinating old corals set in silver, or in some rare old-fashioned way, or the lovely far-famed pink corals, which all travelers bring back from Italy. Corals are the great fad of the moment in Rome.

At the first dance of the year held at the Royal Palace, the Queen appeared with a magnificent necklace of pear-shaped corals, and a coral tiara with two huge diamonds. The fashion for coral was immediately set, and society ransacked palaces in search of coral ornaments inherited from long-departed ancestresses. At no recent function in Rome was there to be seen a lady without a coral necklace and coral earrings, to the advantage of her beauty. The Queen set the fashion to help the Italian coral industry, which had been depressed, and so well did she keep her word to the coral fishermen, that all Europe has gone quite wild over coral ornaments, and everywhere in social circles of Europe, women are wearing them, and the fashion has at last reached our own social centers. It must be said of coral ornaments that they are most becoming, the lovely soft coloring adding to the tones of the complexion. They are far more becoming than diamonds which are very hard and cold,—their brilliancy taking much away from soft lines, and lovely color tones.

LENTEN LUNCHEON TABLE THING OF BEAUTY.

Some of the luncheons in Lent are most attractive affairs. The spring blossoms are so beautiful now, and the early tulips of such wonderful coloring, that a luncheon table is a picture to move one to real joy. One of the most delightful of the recent luncheons was given at the Hotel Oakland, when Mrs. William G. Hendrick entertained a number of friends at her home on Vernon Heights. On next Wednesday Mrs. Andrew Simpson will be the hostess at a luncheon planned for Mrs. Schilling and Miss Elise Schilling. Miss Beatrice Simpson has accompanied the Schillings on many trips away, and she is on their trip abroad. Mrs. George E. Samuels has cards out for a luncheon on the 13th. She will entertain twenty guests at an elaborate luncheon at the Oakland, and she will be assisted in receiving her guests by her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Crowell. ## DOWNY-ORRICK

WEDDING APRIL 30.

The weddings of the spring time are of more than the usual degree of interest, because they concern families well known from the pioneer days of our city. With the announcement of the engagement of William Orrick and Mary Downey comes the news of their wedding date, April 30.

Mr. John Spector and Miss Landers are to be married next Monday in the quaint and exceedingly picturesque Swedenborgian church across the bay, that has been the scene of so many charming weddings. Miss Luette Mauvais is to be the maid of honor and the bride's only attendant.

William Orrick is a nephew of the late Irving Scott, and he is a brother of Murray Orrick, who has made a fine business success in Salt Lake City.

The wedding of Mr. Orrick and Miss Downey will take place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Andrew Downey, in Berkeley, and there will be 50 guests, which will practically include only the relatives of both the young people.

Miss Luette Mauvais and Miss Eleanor Landers have been fast friends from kindergarten days, and there is much romantic interest in the fact that they are both to be brides of the same year.

prominent in social circles in Piedmont and Oakland, and there will be a large attendance at the wedding of the young people.

One of the important engagements announced this winter was that of Mr. Charles Kutz and Miss Mildred Boyne. Mr. Kutz is the youngest son of Admiral and Mrs. Kutz, who are well known in navy circles on this coast, and whose home was for many years in Mare Island. The Kutes have a large family circle, and the daughter of the family, Mrs. Crist (Kitty Kutz), is now here. Miss Mildred Boyne is a daughter of Mrs. Taylor of Vernon Heights, and she is a niece of Mrs. Joseph Matthews and of Mrs. Arthur Holland. She is a granddaughter of Thomas Wade, one of the most prominent of the Pacific Coast pioneers, and of the late Mrs. Wade, whose rare personality made a most lasting impression on the life of her day. The wedding of Miss Boyne and Mr. Kutz will take place this spring, and will represent an important social date.

BRIDGE OCCUPIES OBSERVERS OF LENT.

Lent has so many afternoons free that bridge players everywhere are taking advantage of them.

The "D. A. R. Bridge Party" called out at the Ebell Club many of Oakland's good card players at the Ebell Club and netted a large sum of money for a good cause—that of preparing a room at the Exposition for visiting members in 1915.

Many congenial coterie of friends were noticed at the tables. Mrs. George Perer, Mrs. Kessler, Mrs. E. D. Yorker, and Mrs. Guy C. Earl made up one group. At another table were Mrs. Parcells, Mrs. William High, Mrs. Parr, and Mrs. Amann. In another group were Mrs. James Johnson, Mrs. George Shaw, Mrs. Elmer Brinkerhoff, and Mrs. Frank B. Ogden. Mrs. Florence Wells entertained six tables of her friends, and after the bridge game they adjourned with their hostess to the Hotel Oakland for tea.

Mrs. Murray Johnson, Miss Playter, Mrs. Webster and Mrs. McHenry had a table together, and Mrs. Marston entertained a number of guests. The afternoon was very successful financially and most enjoyable.

Mrs. Girard Richardson entertained a number of her friends in her delightful home at Piedmont this week, bridge offering the diversion of the hour. The J. B. Richardsons were among the first to go to Piedmont, and their home with its wonderful garden is most attractive. The home of the Girard Richardsons is near that of the J. B. Richardsons, and it was most attractive for the bridge afternoon, with lovely decorations of daffodils and fresias. Among the good players were:

Mrs. George Talbot, Mrs. Talbot, McClymonds, Mrs. Arthur Gorrill, the Misses Engelhardt, Miss Calver, and Miss Athene Edoff.

A new card club was recently organized, which includes in its list a group of congenial friends and some very good players. It is called "The Wheelock Auction Club," and the name is reminiscent of the days a score of years ago when Kate Wheelock taught whist to some of our leading families, and organized the "Kate Wheelock Club." The first meeting of the new club was held at the home of Mrs. William Creed, and the next time the club meets the hostess will be Mrs. Guy C. Earl.

Fortunately for our side of the bay, many well known players are plunging into "nullo" feeling that the knowledge of them is needed now, and will be more needed next winter. And in this connection one is moved to quote from Florence Irwin, probably the best auction expert in the United States:

"I wish a cartoonist could draw me a sketch to be called 'Marooned.'"

"Two or three lonely individuals on a narrow strip of land, surrounded by vast stretches of water that was constantly encroaching on the slender foothold; the water should be labeled 'Nullo,' and the lonely individuals would be those players who have tried to stand out against nullo and hold them back. It was a hopeless task from the first; you cannot stem the tide of progress."

"The world moves. The accepted nullo of today are the decrepit relics of a generation back. And it is well that it is so. Want of movement, want of progress, mean rust and mildew. The pioneers of every age are those who can see further ahead than the tips of their own noses. And always they are first called crazy by the vast army of their contemporaries—and later they are

Where the Wife Is Older

(By DORIS BLAKE.)

RECENTLY I printed a letter from a woman who had married a man years her junior.
She claimed she had made a failure of her life because of the disparity in age. In today's mail I received the following interesting communication in defiance of all such opinions:

"I do not agree with the writer of the letter which appeared recently, claiming the folly of marrying a man younger than yourself.
"You correspondent wrote that she is pretty and found it necessary to spend much time in trying to retain her beauty to hold her husband's love; that she had been forced to give up her own friends and her own opinions rather than have her husband's love."

The man should be the older of the two,
but my husband was 21 and I 26 when we married. I am not pretty and have not given up my friends or my opinions or my individuality. My husband and I are companions. When any problem is being discussed, he expects me to express my own ideas. I do not worry about being pretty. I spend my leisure moments thinking and planning for my future.
I have a home and a wife and a happy life. I have a husband who loves me and keeps the home pleasant and never worry about her husband caring that she
is older than he is.

longer than just curiosity, but I have married life has been one of happiness.
And we intend to keep it so.
"If any girl were to come to me and ask me to marry her, I should say married is exactly what you make it. It depends on yourself. If you are congenial and make no difference. Be a companion to your husband. Love him. Have a home and you will not need to worry. There could not be a happier couple than my husband and I. I am not beautiful. I have a husband who loves me and keeps the home pleasant and never
worry about her husband caring that she

SHALL SHE CALL ON HIS FAMILY?
"If you are to be married, you must decide for me which is proper. My fiancé invited me out to his home, which I do not think proper, as I think his folks ought to call on me. Which is correct?"

It would be more considerate for your fiance's mother to call on you but it is proper for you to go with him to call on his family.

HER HUSBAND NOT AFFECTIONATE.

Dear Miss Blake, I beg your assurance that I am not a very great man. I am married to a man of 35 and have known him all my life. Before we were married he seemed fair to worship me and showed his love in every way.
I have a husband who loves me and keeps the home pleasant and never worry about her husband caring that she

THE MEETING OF THE TWO WOMEN WAS
by chance and only a few persons were present.

for the first time in her life actually heard sound. Not by means of her sensitive fingers, which the blind girl places on the lips and throat of the person whose words she wishes to read, but the beautiful full high notes of a selection from
"Die Walkure," sung by Alice Saltzman-Stevens of the Chicago Grand Opera Company, found an answering chord in Helen Keller's soul and the actual sound of the highest notes reached the girl's brain. With uplifted hands and heaving bosom she exclaimed over and over at the completion of the song: "Oh, I have heard, I have heard! I could weep for joy!"

Use of Powder and Rouge

By LILLIAN RUSSELL

ONE of the most important questions of the day, one that is being discussed in women's clubs, is the use of powder and rouge.
Almost all women require a little delicate powder to subdue the shine on their faces after washing either with soap and water or cleansing cream. Just as men need it and use it after shaving.

To be sure, all young girls should be beautiful enough without powder, and all women should look youthful if they take plenty of exercise, eat moderately and take that even beautiful thoughts, which make beautiful expressions, cannot take the shine from the nose. And the majority of them carry their little powder puff with

them.

One of the most celebrated portrait painters we have in America says: "Civilization and beautifying go hand in hand. Anything that makes a pretty girl prettier goes with artists." And he is right in do not think that rouge is becoming to most women. When a woman is perfectly healthy and active she has round, full cheeks and bright eyes, her color comes and goes with her vivacity and enthusiasm. She needs no color to enhance her charms. Her cheeks are more grotesque than paint upon thin, hollow cheeks. It is always absolutely apparent that it is paint, for natural color only appears upon full, healthy faces. Civilization teaches us many arts, but the best one for enhancing the beauty of a woman is the art of preserving health and beauty for an indefinite number of years.

Answers to Queries

R. F.—The cold weather will make the face and nose red. There is nothing that will take the color from the face. Red cheeks show that you are in good health and that your circulation is good. The walking three miles daily has probably done this for you. I am afraid there is nothing you can do.
Continue your walks.

GERTRUDE L.—A girl with brown hair and eyes and a fair complexion can wear all the light colors, the dark reds, blues and green. Gray hair and black hair becoming. You failed to send me the required stamped, addressed envelope and I cannot send you the formulas you asked for.

MRS. E. K.—When cream is used on the face, it is best to use it in place of water. It will make the skin soft and flabby and cause a growth of hair. Creams will not always cause a growth of hair if massaged into the skin, then taken off with water. Before massaging the face, wash the face with cold water. Then, after the cream is on the face, open the pores, then massage the cream into the pores for about fifteen minutes. Again place cloth over the face to open the pores and take all the cream out. Dash cold water on the face. This hardens the flesh and prevents a growth of hair. If you care for the formula for my astringent lotion for preventing a growth of hair I shall gladly send it to you. I shall send you a formula for a bleach.

MAYBELL—Here is a good formula for removing freckles: One-fourth ounce carbonated potash, one-eighth ounce chloride of soda, eight ounces rosewater and two ounces orange flower water. Mix.
Bathe the face with this lotion at night before retiring. In the morning use cold cream.

MRS. P. M.—I am sorry, but I cannot print you all the formulas asked for. If you wish a personal reply send me a stamped, addressed envelope and I shall gladly send them to you.

READER—There is nothing you can do to remove the mole. Don't use cosmetics. If you wish a personal reply send me a stamped, addressed envelope and I shall gladly
send them to you.

M. L.—I will gladly print the formula for astringent lotion: One and one-half ounces witch hazel, one-half ounce tincture of benzoic acid, one ounce spirits of wine, and five ounces orange flower water.

Put the spirits of wine and benzoic acid into an eight-ounce bottle;
add the other ingredients, previously mixed, and shake slightly.
Apply this wash with a sponge night and morning. This lotion will correct an oily skin and close enlarged pores.

J. T. O.—Your troubles require massage of the whole face, and as the directions for massage are too long to print, I will have to ask you to send me a stamped, addressed envelope for personal reply. I will send you the instructions for massage and formula for a skin food that is used with massage and will fill out hollow cheeks.

H. R.—There is positively nothing you could do without injury to the baby to keep her fat. Don't attempt to do anything. Never hamper a child's growing as nature intended her to be. You will injure the child for life. Your baby is only two and one-half months old and much too small to worry about whether she is going to have large feet or small. What difference does it make if the child's feet are a little large? They will be in proportion to the rest of her body. When she is 20 she may be a large woman, and small feet on a large woman are ridiculous.

NEW YORK, March 7.—Mrs. Ben-since it was founded two years ago, because she found herself out of symexecutive committee.

Mrs. Guinness and Miss Fanny N.
Cottonet, who is said to have resigned also, have been the leading spirits of the society since its organization. They have proposed that the society amalgamate with William Faversham's interests, build a the-stock company for the production of high-class plays and use whatever funds accrue to establish a dramatic society.

dramatic. As Judge Pett summoned the prisoner before him to hear his fate on the charge of embezzlement a woman rose from her seat in the court room and, approaching the bench, drew a rosary from her coat.

"Remember what he would do

"I do, but justice must be admin-man went out in a boat and pretened to drown, leaving his wife and theft, but his subsequent actions."

PLAN FEDERAL INDUSTRIAL HEARINGS

Commission to Make Far-reaching Inquiry and Important Recommendation.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Far-reaching inquiry into practically all phases of the industrial situation in this country with a view of making important recommendations to Congress shortly will be undertaken by the federal industrial relations commission. In announcing this fact tonight, Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the commission, stated that public hearings would be held in the principal industrial centers, beginning probably the last of March and continuing through the early summer. The hearings will embrace in their scope all the main divisions of the inquiry directed by Congress which include irregularity of employment; possibilities of ending irregularity and increasing production through scientific management; activities of trades unions and employers' associations; and the extent and operation of governmental machinery for regulating the conditions of industry, including the relations between employers and employees.

FURTHER LABOR RELATIONS. Particular inquiry will be devoted to aid acting as a board of mediation, harmonious relations beneficial to both employers and employees, with a view to their adoption in centers where such methods have never been tried.

Representatives of employers, trades unions, other labor organizations, unorganized employees and the general public will be heard, through whom the commission hopes to obtain information that will lead to constructive recommendations. The services of experts on subjects to be inquired into have been obtained by the commission, and they are now aiding in planning the hearings. The commission will subpoena witnesses, but announces that volunteer testimony will be welcomed.

CITIES TENTATIVELY SELECTED. Cities tentatively selected for hearings include Houghton, Mich.; Trinidad, Colo.; Los Angeles, Seattle, San Francisco, Butte, Lead, S. D., and the principal cities of the East, South and Middle West.

"The commission will carefully avoid acting as a board of mediation and conciliation," said Chairman Walsh, "and will not allow itself to be drawn into local controversies, or recognize such controversies, unless in doing so it can obtain information that has more than local and temporary significance."

"Every interest will be given a hearing. The commission will strive to put aside all bias and prejudice. It will urge others to do the same, in the hope that the industrial problem may be solved in the near future."

CO-OPERATION ESSENTIAL. "The open mind will be our watchword and we shall endeavor to provide a forum where men representing all factions can meet in the common purpose of finding a way out from bitterness and strife. To accomplish this we shall need co-operation and help from all concerned. We shall ask those who meet us at the hearings to come, not as employers or employees, but as men belonging to the same human family."

"The hearings are to be undertaken as one means of carrying out the instructions of Congress to inquire into the industrial situation and to report our conclusions and recommendations."

A third trial against another paper is to be tried next week.

NEW CAR BANDIT IN AMATEUR HOLDUP

Fires Off Revolver to Frighten Conductor; Gets $2.50

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—Another street car bandit made his advent into the field of crime at an early hour this morning when car number 611 of the Kentucky street line, was held up in a lonely neighborhood in the south of Market street section. That the robber was an amateur, he admitted, and the original car highway man who yesterday was held to answer to the superior court, is the belief of the police. That he is more dangerous by reason of his inexperience, is evident from the fact that he almost fired off his revolver to frighten the platform man. Car number 611 was out-bound at 12:17 a. m. and carried no passengers. The conductor jumped off at Fourth and Kentucky streets and ran ahead of his car to flag it over a railroad crossing. In his absence the bandit jumped aboard from the rear, ran down the car and swung on the front platform with his motorman, Charles Klobin. Mr. Klobin was making his way through the car to the rear again when the robber, unmasked, but carrying a revolver, ordered him to hand over his money.

"Quit your kookum!" replied Mr. Klobin, laughing, believing it was all a joke. "You hand over that coin," said the highwayman, and he fired point blank a little to the left of his victim. The bullet crashed through the glass at the side of the car.

Mr. Klobin put his hand into his pocket, gave $2.50 to the bandit and stood with his hands in the air. This seemed to satisfy the robber, who walked to the front of the car, placed the revolver close to Klobin's side, and ordered him to slow up. The motorman obeyed and the car sped off. He is described as a few feet tall, 150 pounds, smooth shaven and rather roughly dressed in a brown suit.

BURNAM SPEAR SUED BY MRS. BRIGLIA

Widow of Auto Victim Begins Action to Collect Damages From Son.

Mrs. Francesco Briglia, whose husband was killed on March 9 last by an automobile belonging to Charles S. Spear, capitalist and former member of the state harbor board, against whom she was awarded judgment for $15,000 damages last December, has filed a new suit against Burnam Spear, who was driving the automobile when the accident occurred at San Pablo avenue and Grove street at an early hour in the morning. The widow asks judgment for damages for herself and nine children in the sum of $25,000.

In winning her suit against Spear last December, Mrs. Briglia was awarded the largest sum granted by a jury in a civil suit for damages in Alameda county for the last 20 years. The day following the entry of judgment Spear filed with the county recorder a notice that certain large sums of money held by him had been sold to the wife of his child, and that in order to collect damages from the son out of the trust fund held for him, it given as the object of the second suit.

Briglia, a saloonkeeper of West Oakland, was walking homeward on the night he was killed. As he stepped from the curb along San Pablo avenue and started to cross Grove street, the Spear automobile, traveling rapidly, struck him and hurled him to the pavement. He died almost instantly. In the automobile at the time of the accident were Mr. and Mrs. Spear, Mr. and Mrs. James Lundgren of Berkeley, Justice of the Peace and Mrs. James G. Quinn and Burnam Spear. The accident occurred shortly after 1 o'clock in the morning.

Mrs. Briglia at once filed suit asking $25,000 damages. The case was tried before a jury in Superior Judge Harris' court. The testimony went to show that the automobile had been traveling at an excessive rate of speed and that Briglia had received no warning of its approach.

The second suit of Mrs. Briglia has been assigned for trial before Superior Judge Wast.

Oakland to Fair Grounds in 25 Minutes Visitors Make Quick and Direct Boat Trip

East Bay Delegation Is Received by Commissioners

Yesterday's visit of east bay officials and citizens to the exposition grounds was epoch-making. It marked the first official ferry trip from Oakland to the exposition grounds. The Alameda county guests were carried directly to the exposition site on the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway's ferry Yerba Buena.

It took just exactly 25 minutes to make the direct trip and this will be the time consumed when a direct ferry service is instituted between Oakland and the exposition grounds at the opening of the fair in February, 1915. The boat took exactly 25 minutes from slip to slip and docked easily in the exposition ferry slip, just west of the United States army transport docks.

Statuary of heroic proportions looked down upon a group of 300 men comprising representatives of the east bay cities and the committee representing the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in the gigantic Machinery Palace at the exposition grounds yesterday afternoon. In the great building the 300 men were dwarfed into insignificance. They were hardly a handful and they looked like pigmies wandering amid the splendid statuesque giants grouped about the three long naves of the building.

But in the midst of their wondering about the floor of the great structure, there came a voice that sent an electric current through the group. Suddenly the men dominated the building and were more significant than the heroic statuary. A voice bound them into one body and called them significantly:

"Men of the exposition."

"Then it became clear that these men were responsible for the building structure, that they had had a hand in making possible the statuary and that they meant to do more wonderful things. It became apparent that though they were small they could do great things, that a whole world was rising up around them because they had willed it. They were building works that will be the wonderment of the world."

CO-OPERATION KEYNOTE

The keynote as to how this wonderland had been made possible was sounded in the word co-operation. The gathering in the Palace of Machinery was the pledge of future co-operation, a pledge that the "men of the exposition," on both sides of the San Francisco bay, would stand together and work for the great event.

The occasion was the visit of 250 representative men of Alameda county to the exposition grounds, where they were shown over the buildings and site as guests of the directors of the exposition. They were given a comprehensive view of the work in hand and the work proposed, as a preliminary to the request that Alameda county shall make good, as soon as possible, the pledge of financial aid to be accorded to the exposition.

When the ferryboat bearing the visitors approached the slip cheers broke forth from the group of men headed by Mayor Rolph of San Francisco awaiting the Alameda county delegation. The cheers were answered and re-echoed by those on the Yerba Buena.

Mayor Mott headed the procession from the boat, followed by the mayor of Alameda county, and a number of county officials and prominent citizens. Mayor Rolph extended the hand of welcome as Mott stepped ashore, and the visitors were greeted by a committee of the exposition directorate consisting of M. H. de Young, Dent Robert, William H. Crocker, Curtis H. Lindley, James McNab, Rudolph J. Teasig, M. J. Brandenstein, Joseph S. Tobin and A. W. Foster and Harris D. H. Connick, director of works.

SENATE THEN FORECASTED TROUBLE

Old Records Revived to Show That U. S. Had No Faith in Villaland.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Additional interest in the Mexican situation was lent today by the publication of the details of a purported treaty negotiation more than half a century ago between the United States and the republic of Mexico, which, if ratified, would have authorized the United States "to intervene in support of its own treaty right and the security of its own citizens whenever Mexico may be unable to guarantee the same without incurring the obligation or necessity of a general intervention in the domestic affairs of that country."

IN SECRET ARCHIVES. The treaty was lying in the secret archives of the Senate committee on foreign relations since January, 1860. The injunction of secrecy was removed yesterday by the Senate and the document ordered printed for the use of the members of that body.

The treaty was signed in Vera Cruz on December 14, 1859, by Robert M. McLane, American minister to Mexico, and M. Ocampo, secretary of state and foreign affairs of Mexico, and shortly afterwards transmitted to the Senate by President Buchanan, but it was never ratified by the United States because of confusion incident to the outbreak of the Civil war.

Article five of the treaty reads as follows:

"The republic of Mexico agrees that should it become necessary at any time to employ military forces for the security and protection of persons and property passing over the routes aforesaid, it will employ the requisite force for that purpose; but on failure to do this, from any cause whatever, the government of the United States may, with the consent or at the request of the government of Mexico or of the minister thereof at Washington, or of the consent of legally appointed local authorities, civil or military, employ such force for this and for no other purposes; and when, in the opinion of the government of Mexico, the necessity of such force shall be immediately withdrawn."

"In the exceptional case, however, of unforeseen or imminent danger to the lives or property of the United States, the forces of said republic are authorized to act for their protection without the necessity of previously obtained; and such forces shall be withdrawn when the necessity for this employment ceases."

PREDICTED ANARCHY. In a communication transmitted to Secretary of State Lewis Cass, Minister McLane warned that if the Senate failed to ratify the treaty further anarchy would exist in Mexico, notwithstanding the fact that he was persuaded that if the government of the United States declines the responsibility imposed on it by adoption and ratification of this convention further anarchy will prevail in Mexico until it will be terminated by direct intervention from some quarter in the federal politics of Mexico, or by an intervention of our own caused by some sudden and unforeseen provocation that will expose us to the responsibilities of a general war and a conquest that few would desire to undertake or consummate."

Yet added to this is his significant qualification that while he is planning to take his wife and four children abroad, "much depends on the treatment meted out to my brother."

'IN STATU QUO'

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Secretary Bryan said today that the Anglo-American commission appointed to examine the body of William S. Benton, the British subject, still was "in statu quo." In official circles it was understood the commission will make no further effort to accomplish the task for which it was appointed. Secretary Bryan also said nothing had been received concerning the investigations being made in the Benton and Bauch cases by the Mexican Constitutional commission.

CHILDREN LOVE
SYRUP OF FIGS

It Is Cruel to Force Nauseating Harsh Physic into a Sick Child.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it is different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only deluxe action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clear the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle.

It is counterfeited sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

HIGH PRICE OF SARDINES
ENDS WITH MURDER

GARDINER, Mont., March 7.—Informed because Walter Semple, a bartender, charged them 24 cents for a can of sardines, Ole A. Halverson and George A. Halsey, United States soldiers from Fort Yellowstone, attacked Semple with knives so fiercely here late last night that he died early today.

More than a hundred infuriated citizens tried to take the soldiers away from Deputy Sheriff George Welcome of Park county after he had arrested the men, but he saved them by his coolness in remarking:

"You had caught them before I did I would have nothing to say. I arrested them and they are mine."

It is alleged that Halsey pushed the bartender from the place, and as Semple was passing through the door he was stabbed in the back.

If it's weak kidneys you must set the kidneys working right. An Oakland resident tells you how. Mrs. J. Weisenfeld, 3749 West St., Oakland, Cal., says: "One of my family has a great deal of bending and stooping to do while at work, and this brought on kidney disease. The first symptom was a terrible pain in the small of his back, running down into his hips. Sometimes he was so stiff and lame when he first got up in the morning that he could hardly dress and at night he couldn't sleep on account of the dull ache through his kidneys. He tried everything he knew of, plasters, liniments, etc., but they brought only temporary relief. We finally read about Doan's Kidney Pills and got them. They were just what was needed. They helped him to ease the ache and in another week he was free from kidney trouble. When I began to suffer from pain and weakness in my back, I at once used Doan's Kidney Pills and their effect was simply marvelous. They cured me and filled me with new life and energy. I am now in much better health. We have not used Doan's Kidney Pills in a long time, because we haven't needed them. We always keep a supply on hand, however. I am pleased to confirm all I have previously said about Doan's Kidney Pills."

CHIN SANG WAS THE GREAT GIVER

Now He's Broke and They Say That He Is Out of His Head.

Chin Sang, a prosperous Chinese merchant of Oakland and San Francisco, and known in Chinatown as "a vally nice man," has outdone himself in being nice. With a philanthropic interest for his wealth in the last two days he has promiscuously distributed $2000 in the streets, given away goods worth $3000 from his store at 822 Washington street, and 1000 place was spread, but no

Prosperity is believed to have unbalanced Chin Sang's mind, for up to a few days ago he was known as a perfectly normal merchant, attending strictly to his evening business and not given to the kind of eccentricities of his new store in Washington street on Thursday started Chin on his career as a "million dollar kid."

Going to San Francisco on a Southern Pacific train Thursday morning, Chin surprised the passengers by stepping up to the first-class car and paying for himself and seven other passengers, Oakland, and making the fare of everybody in the car. Immediately he was the friend of all and became the center of a curious group on the ferryboat. When the boat reached San Francisco Chin invited the passengers to take dinner with him, but they declined.

The distribution of $2000 in cash on the streets was the usual "luck money" attending every Chinese event, such as funerals, births and the opening of a store. Chin went to the Canton Bank, drew of his entire deposit and started to distribute it to passersby.

The next act of munificence was the opening of his Washington-street store. "No charge; everything free," said Chin as he handed over his stock with a smile.

A banquet at the Hang Far Low restaurant in Grant avenue was arranged for in the evening. Chin ordered places for 100 guests and paid $200 in advance for the food. Everyone of prominence in Chinatown, including the Chinese consul general, was to be invited.

But Chin forgot to invite anyone and forgot to go to the banquet himself. When the late Thursday night, Chin advised him to eat the banquet himself.

Yesterday a crowd surrounded Chin's store all day. Representatives of various firms that had given Chin goods of credit landed the street to collect their money. Chin had none to give. While his creditors searched the store for their goods, Chin calmly played Chinese music on a phonograph.

Friends of Chin last night took him in charge and will make arrangements to straighten his tangled affairs and secure medical attention for him.

SECTION AT EXPOSITION

Accompanied by Madame Kahn and by one of their three children, he will leave within a month for Persia. THIRTY-TWO years ago the first mile of the English channel tunnel was completed. Travelers saw visions of soon being able to dodge the rough sea trip between Dover and Calais. But the invasion bogey seized the military authorities in England; parliament would not let the construction proceed. Each successive year that the project was proposed alarmists arose to picture the French making use of the tunnel to land an army in England. Parliament regularly refused the approval, notwithstanding that the promoters devised schemes whereby the pressing of an electric button on English soil would put the tunnel out of commission in war time.

Carpenter Who Might Have Explained "Holmes Castle" Mysteries Is Dead.

CHICAGO, March 7.—Patrick Quinlan, who was said to be one of the few men who might have explained the mysteries of "Holmes Castle," which was famous in the annals of Chicago crime, is dead at his home near Portland, Mich., according to dispatches received here today. Before his death he told physicians he had taken poison.

Quinlan was a carpenter and was employed by Herman W. Mudgett, better known as Dr. J. J. Holmes, to build the structure which later became known as the "castle." The police held him for time as a possible accomplice in the five or six murders of which Holmes was convicted. Quinlan acted as agent for "the castle" until Holmes was hanged.

Traps, false partitions and a number of other parts of the equipment found in "the castle," in which the police believed many crimes had been committed. Except for a number of bones, not proved to be human, which were found in the furnace, there was no evidence that any of Holmes' crimes had been committed there.

"He couldn't sleep," was the reason given by relatives for Quinlan's suicide.

DAVIS TO RESIGN CHAIR
DEM. STATE COMMITTEE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—John O. Davis, collector of the port, announced yesterday that he would give up his resignation as chairman of the Democratic state central committee at the meeting which is to be held on Tuesday, April 14.

J. J. Scott, collector of internal revenue, has already declared his wish to quit the office of secretary of the state central committee.

According to a report in Democratic circles, if P. Andrews of Red Bluff will succeed Davis as chairman. There has been much talk of State Senator Archie Campbell of San Luis Obispo for chairman, but Andrews is said to be the man selected. Campbell has been recently appointed a member of the state committee.

A strong movement is under way among a large number of Democratic women to make Mrs. Grace B. Calkins secretary of the state committee in Scott's place. In the campaign for the election of Woodrow Wilson Mrs. Calkins was one of the active workers at Wilson headquarters.

YOU WILL SOON KNOW YOUR CAR BY NUMBER

Oakland's street cars will soon be distinguished by big white numbers which will show the routes along which they travel. No longer will the night passenger be forced to strain his eyes in an endeavor to decipher a sign on a car top before stopping the vehicle. Now big numbers, visible at least a block away, will inform him of his car.

The first of the new route numbers will be put on the San Pablo and Telegraph lines. The numbers, large and white, will be inclosed in boxes and will be illuminated at night. The plan is similar to that employed in San Francisco, save that the numbers to be used will be more plainly visible.

The numbers to be given the different routes and the details of the plan have not yet been decided.

SUSPECTED SON OF
WILLIAM I DIES

CHICAGO, March 7.—Charles Coker, who claimed William I of Germany as his father, died yesterday at the Mount Hope hospital here. His death was the result of a long illness. He had been the subject of much official correspondence, but the replies he received, while polite and interesting, were unmistakably of a courteous, but not of a friendly nature. Right or wrong, the German emperor would have none of him.

Notwithstanding this fact he received a liberal pension from some source. He never worked. He resembled members of Germany's reigning family very closely and hundreds of Germans here believed his claim was correct. He contended he was born in Berlin, September 20, 1848, and that his right the throne was his. To the public he never explained why he was so sure of it. He was careful to keep in official documents, but carefully guarded.

TAX REVENUE MAY

400,000 Individuals Make Return Before Expiration of Time Limit.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The income tax law bids fair to live up to the expectations of the administration by producing $50,000,000 annually in revenue paid by close to 425,000 individuals. Although treasury officials decided tonight not to make public for the present reports of internal revenue collectors on the income tax, it became known that more than 400,000 individuals had made returns up to Monday midnight, when the time limit expired. From these individuals it was understood the government would probably collect more than $50,000,000.

It has been the opinion among officials that the returns of individuals would take advantage of the thirty days' extension of time granted in case of absence and sickness and they expect the figures to show at least 25,000 more returns than were given in the preliminary lists from collectors. If they are not mistaken in this view, the actual returns will be close to the estimates made at the time the legislation was passed by Congress. This addition, officials believe, will not only include the number subject to the tax, but the amount to be collected.

Including the incorporation tax as amended in the present law, it was estimated that the annual revenue from this source would amount to about $55,000,000.

"I want to get through with my prison term and have my true girl with me again," he said repeatedly.

"PROPHET DANIEL" IN DURANCE OF POLICE

PARIS, March 7.—Traffic was brought to a standstill in one of the boulevards yesterday, when a tall German, attired in a long black gown, appeared on the roadway, shouting in a loud voice: "I am the prophet Daniel, hear ye!"

The man then displayed a large sheet of paper, on which was printed in red letters:

"A great wind will fall upon Paris and everyone will be swept to the clouds—above all, above all, the inhabitants of the Boulevard Saint Germain."

After displaying the prediction he exhorted the crowd to read the Gospel. The police arrested the man.
